Seriously? The little computer company that could is now the largest in the world, who would have thought? Have you made fun of the fact that apple does not make real computers or it is just a fad?

Well it looks like that fad has been quite successful. One hope that I would have is that Apple could bring back some of the jobs they have shipped overseas to the US. Why cant iPads be made in the USA?

if it is a structural problem, it is something that should be fixed what do you think?
