Are you waiting for it? Did you see the movie? Are you trapped in anticipation?

Okay a bit over the top but this Groundhog day has me a bit nervous. Our winter has been so mild, do we really want it to end? or has it all been all waiting for Phil so that the winter could really start?

Either way, I think we all need to make sure that we remember that it is all a prediction, but isn't that what weather is all about for all of us?
