XAVIER’S 9th ANNUAL HEALTH PROFESSIONS “TEAMING” EVENT

Our MHSA students joined Xavier’s other health professions students on Tuesday, March 14, 2017 for the afternoon interactive seminar, “Teaming for Clients with One of the Three D’s – Delirium, Depression, Dementia” featuring internationally-known occupational therapist and dementia care expert, Teepa Snow, who lives in central North Carolina. More than 200 XU health professions students gathered in the CINTAS banquet room to learn more about contemporary strategies in care for the aging, to work in interprofessional teams on a case study to determine a care plan, and to have the opportunity to learn from faculty, community experts, doctoral psychology students, and each other. HSA faculty member Dr. Eddie Hooker continues on the planning team. A quote from Teepa sums it up: “Until there’s a cure, there’s simply care.” Our first-year MHSA class gathered for this picture:
