Guy W. Jones (Wakuwa la) a Hunkpapa Lakota, is a full blood member of the Standing Rock Sioux Tribe. Guy was born at Fort Yates, North Dakota and spent his early years in Wakpala, South Dakota.

From the beginning of America's history, the culture and the identity of the original people of the Americas have been told us by those far from the reality. These original people have become American Indians, Native Americans and just Indians. History books, myths and legends, Hollywood, sports mascots, wannabes, and imitators have led to a myriad of misconceptions about America's first nation people.

Share in the journey, become a part of the struggle, recognize the realities, and walk to a better day.
