MEGAN BELDEN, Marketing and Management Major, Class of 2011
RESEARCH ANALYST, NIELSEN CO.

“The Williams College of Business shaped me into a confident young professional. There were so many opportunities to improve my skills, whether it be resume-building, business ethics courses or interviewing workshops. The mentor program gave me motivation, support, and my mentor is a great example of a genuine leader in the real world. I am so grateful for the invaluable experience I gained.”
KYLEE BARNETT, Marketing and Economics Major, Class of 2011
COMMUNITY RELATIONS COORDINATOR, CINCINNATI REDS

“The most important program for my career development was definitely the mentoring program. I was introduced to my mentors, Bob and Phil Castellini, who provided me with the opportunity to research and enhance a system that allows minority businesses in the region a viable detailed path for success. I traveled to New York, Chicago, Detroit, Atlanta and Philadelphia researching comparable projects and networked with professionals in the industry while visiting prestigious MBA programs that align with my career goals.”

OUR UNDERGRADS THRIVE

Ranked as one of the nation’s best business schools by Bloomberg BusinessWeek, The Princeton Review and Forbes, the Williams College of Business grooms its students with the essential knowledge and skills needed to compete in the business world, but we don’t stop there. The College provides students with a strong background in ethics to make informed decisions; a sense of social values to improve our community; and the nuances of professional development and networking to enhance their career potential. We take students beyond where most business schools go, and the results show.
