Academic Major and Co-Curricular Program Assessment

Xavier defines a program as any definite and established curriculum, academic or non-academic, in which student learning takes place. All programs are expected to be assessed for student learning.

- Area Assessment Committees (AAC) housed in each college/division, chaired by senior faculty members or Associate Deans in the colleges are charged with overseeing, reviewing, and enforcing assessment processes and ensuring continuous programmatic review.

- Co-curricular Areas chaired by senior administrators in the co-curricular divisions, are charged with overseeing, reviewing, and enforcing assessment processes and ensuring continuous programmatic review.

- The AAC chairs form an Administrative Assessment Group that meets regularly to oversee and coordinate assessment from a university perspective.

- The AAG group, which reports to the Provost, monitors challenges experienced by the AACs and Co-Curricular groups and responds with process and/or policy changes as necessary.

- Offices and Centers listed under Resources and Analytic will provide support to academic and co-curricular areas that align with student learning outcomes.
