

Interviewer's Reflection

As a double major in Marketing and Sustainable Business, I learned from Stan Hedeem that the protection of biodiversity is a sustainable act of selflessness. Most importantly, his understanding of interconnectedness is a true testament of solidarity that any individual, business, and organization should value, and that I will continue to carry throughout my career.

– Emily Bishop

Sustainability: Economics & Management and Marketing double major