

Diversity

Stan Hedeem stresses that the Mill Creek is an ecological community that requires both the preservation of diversity where it exists and the restoration of diversity where it has been eliminated. Nothing is sustainable if it is not based on diversity, whether it is the creek, a business organization, or society. Any owner of a successful business understands that staff diversity is a key factor toward gaining profit, and in our own society we often link diversity and progress. Stan Hedeem and Groundwork Cincinnati/Mill Creek know that the importance of diversity extends from the health of the Mill Creek to the vitality of the Cincinnati area.