Hello, colleagues.

Kandi Stinson, PhD, CTE Faculty Director and Professor of Sociology
Sharon Blake, MA, Administrative Assistant, CTE and IRB

The CTE and ID&T have developed several support resources to assist faculty with remote teaching in summer 2020: Resources for Remote Teaching in Summer 2020.

For questions about any of these events, please don't hesitate to reach out to us. You can contact Daniel Wooddell, Manager of Digital Media Services, at dwooddell@xavier.edu. Librarians are available to help faculty put course information into the Canvas templates, strategies for teaching in the online environment, and how to best use the Canvas templates.

If you plan to use Respondus utilizing video for final exams, be sure to test this functionality in advance with your students to determine if students will be able to use the software. IT still has computers and webcams to loan students for exams, however, so long as the exams work properly. IT still has computers and webcams to loan students for exams, however, so long as the exams function properly.

As we approach the time for final course assessments, a new resource has been added to the Instructional Continuity website to provide resources and support for placing final exams or assignments.

Support for Putting Final Exams or Assignments

Resources to assist faculty with remote teaching in summer 2020:
Upcoming IOCD for Fully Online Courses: May 2020
IOCD (Introduction to Online Course Design) is being offered in mid May for instructors preparing to teach courses online in the fall.
Updated Instructional Continuity Website
Upcoming ID&T webinars and brownbag discussions, and a form for requesting help with teaching, and even as the semester comes to a close, there may be areas in which you need assistance.

I am sure you have had many successes in making the transition to remote teaching, and student technology, a link to the Remote Exams resource page on the Instructional Continuity website, and student technology.

The following can be found below:
- Support from ID&T and DMS
- Instructional Continuity Website
- Resources for Remote Teaching in Summer 2020
- Upcoming IOCD for Fully Online Courses
- Updated Instructional Continuity Website
- Support for Putting Final Exams or Assignments

Please don't hesitate to reach out to us directly at cte@xavier.edu for assistance. You can also find our mailing address and information on and contact information for the ID&T and DMS team.

I will return with the newsletter Monday, with more information, resources, and tips for success in the remote teaching environment.

Sharon Blake, Administrative Assistant, CTE and IRB
Kandi Stinson, PhD, CTE Faculty Director and Professor of Sociology