Remote learning workshop: 1 - Designing a Module

By completing the workshop you will gain knowledge and skills that will be useful no matter what the mode of course delivery. The following can be found below:

- Remote Course Delivery
- Communication Plan
- Instructional Continuity
- Video and Audio
- Learning Best Practices
- Inclusive Design
- Communication Plan
- Instructional Continuity
- Video and Audio
- Learning Best Practices
- Inclusive Design

If you are teaching in the second half of the summer and plan to use remote delivery, this workshop can help you experience remote learning in a cohort format, in community with peers. The workshop will be conducted asynchronously in Canvas so you can engage in workshop activities and complete the assignments, you will be leveraging educational technology to develop online learning activities, and teach you options for delivering your content, creating online assessments, and providing feedback. The workshop will have a mix of self-paced learning and interactive activities including discussion and group work. The workshop is limited to 50 participants per session, so please register soon.

Dates:

- June 8
- June 15
- June 22
- June 29
- July 6

Spaces are filling quickly, so be sure to register soon. Dates for the first five days are listed below:

- Module 1: Course Design
- Module 2: Communication Plan
- Module 3: Instructional Continuity
- Module 4: Video and Audio
- Module 5: Learning Best Practices

For the full course and apply it to other courses. You will end the week with a communication plan for a remotely taught course and plan video, audio, and/or learning best practices. The workshop activities align with Xavier Jesuit values, such as reflection or discernment.

Information on Remote Teaching Workshops

As we close out this semester and look ahead to summer and fall courses, any faculty using Canvas is encouraged to take advantage of resources to assist faculty with remote teaching in 2020. The following resources are available:

Support from ID&T and DMS

Summer writing assistance for students

Resources to assist faculty with remote teaching in summer 2020

Any Questions?

Kandi Stinson, PhD, CTE Faculty Director and Professor of Sociology
cste@xavier.edu

If you are teaching later in the summer or are beginning to plan your fall courses, you are encouraged to take advantage of the resources listed below. If you are teaching in the second half of the summer and plan to use remote delivery, this workshop can help you experience remote learning in a cohort format, in community with peers. The workshop will be conducted asynchronously in Canvas so you can engage in workshop activities and complete the assignments, you will be leveraging educational technology to develop online learning activities, and teach you options for delivering your content, creating online assessments, and providing feedback. The workshop will have a mix of self-paced learning and interactive activities including discussion and group work. The workshop is limited to 50 participants per session, so please register soon.

Dates:

- June 8
- June 15
- June 22
- June 29
- July 6

Spaces are filling quickly, so be sure to register soon. Dates for the first five days are listed below:

- Module 1: Course Design
- Module 2: Communication Plan
- Module 3: Instructional Continuity
- Module 4: Video and Audio
- Module 5: Learning Best Practices

For the full course and apply it to other courses. You will end the week with a communication plan for a remotely taught course and plan video, audio, and/or learning best practices. The workshop activities align with Xavier Jesuit values, such as reflection or discernment.