

LAND major JOBS

(last updated April 2017)

The LAND (Land, Farming and Community) degree prepares students to become creators and custodians of a resilience economy, one that is small and self-sufficient enough in scale to optimally promote human and ecological welfare at once.

SCALE:	PRODUCTION	DISTRIBUTION	EDUCATION and HEALTH	CONSUMPTION	PLANNING
Individual	Work at one of the more than 50 farms in the region, WWOOF	CSA Farm market manage	Health Counselors/Coaches	Health Counselor	Home/Farm Scale Design & Planning (such as One Small Garden, Madisonville 500 Gardens, etc.)
Neighborhood	Enright Ridge Urban Ecovillage Farm; Eden Urban Gardens (join or start your own)	Farm Market Manager	Gabrielle's Place, Grade & High Schools	Restaurant work – Serving/Cooking	Community Development Corporations
City	Our Harvest Cooperative	Clifton Market, Findlay Market	Cincinnati Health Department	Freestore Foodbank	Land Use/Health Advocacy with City of Cincinnati Health Department or Office of Sustainability
County	County Planning Department	Ohio Valley Food Connection	County Health Department	Health Education, Hamilton County Solid Waste District, Rumpke	Land Use/Health Advocacy
State	OEFFA Internship, Agricultural Extension	Kroger, Whole Foods	MA/PhD Programs, State Health	SNAP/Produce Perks	Farm Land Preservation,

	agencies	Market, Fresh Market	Education, ACA, Policy		OEFFA
National/ International	International/national nonprofit organizations Rodale Institute, Pfeiffer Center Intervale Training (Burlington VT)	Import/Export Fair Trade	MA/PhD programs, USDA, FDA, USAID UN Food Programs	SNAP/Produce Perks, National/International Advocacy	Political office or staffing