

NAHSE CASE COMPETITION TEAM

Xavier MHSА had a three-person team of second-year students participating in the NAHSE 24th Everett V. Fox Student Case Competition (National Association of Health Services Executives) held in Washington DC from October 9-11, 2019. The theme of the conference was, "Healthcare for All: The Politics of the Promise".

From the 2019 Team Captain: During the week of October 7th, my colleagues and I had the opportunity to attend the 34th Annual National Association of Health Services Executives Educational Conference and represent Xavier University in the Case Competition. Over the course of three weeks of intense preparation, our student-led team analyzed a mock case and offered our solutions to tackle the growing epidemic of homelessness in the San Francisco Bay Area. The case tested our knowledge of strategy, finance, marketing, operations, current healthcare initiatives, and many more. On the day of the presentation, our team presented a 20-minute strategy followed by 10 minutes of Q&A with an esteemed mix of healthcare executives. The team faced stiff competition from groups of students representing 29 Health Administration programs across the nation. Overall, this was a fulfilling experience that allowed us to connect with a multitude of minority healthcare leaders and young professionals with one common goal to "change the world." –Ericson Imarenezor
