

APPLICATION OF IGNATIAN PRINCIPLES TO INSTITUTIONAL RESEARCH

GUIDING PRINCIPLES OF OFFICE OF INSTITUTIONAL RESEARCH (OIR)

MAGIS

In pursuit of excellence, we strive to surpass the status quo in our areas of work. We continuously enhance and innovate our methods and operations, aiming to make significant contributions to the common good. Our commitment to thoroughness and constant improvement ensures that our research not only upholds but also advances our core values.

REFLECTION

Reflection is integral to our work, guiding our team to consider the deeper implications of our research. We engage in thorough reflection on our methodologies, results, and their broader impacts to ensure that our research is not only methodologically rigorous but also aligns with ethical standards and strategic institutional goals.

DISCERNMENT

Our research approach is infused with discernment, allowing us to thoughtfully navigate complex data and ethical challenges. We prioritize informed decision-making that benefits the educational community and upholds the integrity of our work. This careful deliberation ensures that our efforts contribute positively to our institution and reflect our deep commitment to Ignatian values, guiding us to make choices that serve the greater good.

CURA PERSONALIS

We adopt a holistic approach that recognizes and addresses the diverse needs of our academic community. Our research methodologies are inclusively designed to promote the well-being and development of all participants. By ensuring diverse perspectives are heard and valued, we support each individual's unique contributions, thereby enhancing the integrity and impact of our collective efforts.

SOLIDARITY AND KINSHIP

We foster a collaborative environment that not only enhances our research capabilities but also strengthens community bonds. Committed to inclusivity, we respect all voices and build a supportive network that extends throughout our university and beyond. Our dedication to kinship facilitates shared learning and mutual growth, both essential for achieving our institutional goals and reinforcing the collective success of our community.

SERVICE ROOTED IN JUSTICE AND LOVE

We approach our projects with the intention to critically assess and inform institutional policies affecting marginalized communities. By fostering equity and inclusivity both within our team and in our work, we aim to make recommendations that uphold social justice and compassion. This commitment guarantees that our efforts preserve the dignity and rights of all community members, aligning with our institutional mission and values.

Grace Shin (Office of Institutional Research)

The guiding principles are drafted for a capstone project and are not in their final form.